What is volunteering?

Volunteering is choosing to do something for the benefit of others, or for your community or the environment, without being paid to do it.

Volunteering is open to anyone and can bring great personal rewards. We believe that everyone has a valuable contribution to make to society.

Whatever your age, background or how much time you have to spare, there will be a voluntary role for you!

Many current volunteer opportunities can be found on the Do-it.org website.

What we offer

We can help you find volunteering opportunities that match your individual needs and interests.

Our accredited Volunteer Centres offer one-to-one confidential appointments with friendly and experienced Volunteer Advisors.

These appointments are informal and will help you find out more about volunteering and the range of opportunities available in your local area.

Did you know?

There are hundreds of different opportunities on offer in each local area.

If you would like to find out how we can support you personally, contact us today.

What happens next...

During the appointment, we will ask you about your skills and interests and try to match you with organisations you'd like to work with.

We can contact these organisations on your behalf and pass on your details to them.

We will contact you from time to time after you have used our service to find out whether it has been useful. We can help if you have any problems with your volunteering.

We can also keep you informed of new opportunities as they become available. Just ask your advisor to add you to our mailing list.
