

Young people, radicalisation & autism

Training workshop for professionals

Young people are increasingly being radicalised online into having extreme and harmful views. Young people with autism can be especially vulnerable.

Professional training about this emerging online risk

Register for a virtual workshop which explains radicalisation and how it can affect those with neuro-divergence.

Learn how to spot the warning signs in young people with autism – and how to support the families you work with.

REGISTER HERE

bit.ly/3vtrJSn

Online workshops last around 90 minutes

